he Theatre Royal has been Canterbury's gateway to the magic of the performing arts and the international arts community for nearly a century. ¶ An important part of Canterbury's and New Zealand's art heritage, this grand and elegant theatre adds economic value to Canterbury and the South Island by providing the venue for national and international performing arts and support to our own arts community. ¶ The Isaac Theatre Royal is currently being brought up to 21st century standards to ensure generations to come can continue to access performing arts for another century. ¶ This is your once in a hundred year opportunity - buy a seat in the Isaac Theatre Royal. Your contribution will be celebrated with a plaque on a seat.

This is a limited opportunity - only 600 seats are available! Be quick!
